ABOUT ME

Third-year student at the University of Applied Sciences Velika Gorica, studying Computer Systems Maintenance, with an interest in pursuing a career in IT. I have knowledge of relational databases and Python, and experience working in Windows and Linux environments. Through my education and work experience, I have developed technical and communication skills, as well as experience supporting users and resolving technical issues. I have strong communication skills, take responsibility for my work, and collaborate well with others. I am eager to continue learning and develop my knowledge of new technologies.
